ComSouth Supports American Cancer Society Relay for Life

Hawkinsville, GA—April 2010 ComSouth has once again joined forces with the American Cancer Society to become a major sponsor of the Pulaski County Relay for Life. The event, set to take place May 7, 2010 at the Hawkinsville High School, rallies the community to raise funds to increase cancer awareness, support cancer research and education.

From the relay's beginnings in 1985, when a doctor in Washington State circled 83 miles of a track to raise $27,000 to the current Relay for Life events held nationwide, the unifying impact on the local community is apparent to all those in attendance.

“ComSouth is proud to be a major sponsor of the American Cancer Society’s Relay for Life,” stated Robert W. Krueger, President and CEO of ComSouth. “Unfortunately most families and businesses have been touched by cancer. The benefits provided to our local community through this event and the lives that are impacted make this event a bright spot on an otherwise dark subject.”
